DALLAS, Texas — After nearly 34 years of silence, a former Mafia hit man has come forward with a confession that will rock our nation to its core: "I fired the bullet that killed President John F. Kennedy!"

Now it can be stated unequivocally that the fatal bullet was fired not from the sixth floor of the Book Depository as the Warren Report says but from the infamous grassy knoll. And the hit was ordered by the mob itself.

"Federal investigators say there can be no doubt the 22-year-old gangland figure is telling the truth," said independent investigator Mark Zebler, who broke the story. "It's not one of those situations where someone sets up a tape recorder. It's the real thing." The shocking new facts about Kennedy's death came to light several weeks ago after the infamous gunman, who is now suffering from inoperable lung cancer, came to Zebler and asked the detective to act as a go-between him and the government.

"When he did the job in 1963 he worked for the Mafia as what was called a third-person contact," Zebler said. "He wanted to remain anonymous even to the people who paid for the hit. They favored that arrangement because the money he received passed through many hands before it was delivered to him. He never did another job after Kennedy and he's been a legitimate businessman for the past 30 years," said Zebler, 40.

"He told me he wanted to make a decent living from it before he goes to meet his maker. But he doesn't want his family to live under the shadow of disgrace. So I set up a meeting with federal investigators, telling them the real story of the assassination in exchange for a clean break for the ex-gangster."

In fact, one of the stipulations of the confession is complete confidentiality. The hit man is currently under protection, and the story has been sealed until after he is dead. The first lady was whisked into the President's in during the final minutes before he was gunned down by a Mafia hit man all the way to the top of the Washington power structure.

Mark Zebler showed the investigators videos, photos and graphs that tell a world story of organized crime, betrayal and cover-ups going back to how he was ordered by Mafia high-ups to be a back-up in Lee Harvey Oswald's "get rid of the troublesome politician" that was John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

"I was never told directly but it was implied to me that I was working with the full knowledge of certain officials," the hit man said.
on video. "So Lee was stationed at the Texas School Book Depository Building and I positioned myself at the grassy knoll."

"When the car passed by, Lee's bullet hit Governor Connally. But it was my bullet that got Kennedy. Lee was caught—I wasn't." "Reading More..."

"Two federal investigators who asked not to be identified, say the aging mobster's detailed description of the scenario of the beloved President's death."

"Zebov says a full report will soon be released that will "blow the Warren Report right out of the water."
